STUDENT DUE PROCESS

The due process procedures are assured all students.

For clarification, except in emergency situations, they are entitled to know the circumstances of an incident that may lead to punishment or treatment other than ordinary, the opportunity to present the facts as known by the accused and the right of appeal.

INTERROGATION:

During school hours a student shall not be requested to participate in an interview, or interrogation, except for school personnel of the district, without permission of the building administrator or, if sought, the Superintendent of Schools.

The building administrator shall not grant an interview, or interrogation, of any student without parental consent, or if the student is 18 years of age, personal consent, except as required by a court order or a case of child abuse or neglect. In a case of child abuse or neglect, representatives of the New Hampshire Division of Welfare may interview without parental consent, a student whose parent(s) are involved or alleged to be involved.

In any event, the building administrator or a designee shall be present at all interviews, or interrogations, except those of school district personnel.
