Here you go...(with thanks)

“How do you strengthen a library? You celebrate it, shout its message from the rooftops. Books are for everyone and reading changes lives. You insist on a library in every school, with a trained librarian. School libraries teach the importance of books, they create readers. These readers grow up to value libraries. They know that a library is a social and artistic hub that welcomes everyone, a great social service. Their school library taught them that. Libraries will grow strong.”

- Chris Riddell, U.K. Children’s Laureate

Picture Books - Fiction

New York: Penguin.

New York: Disney Hyperion. Companion to Grace for President.

Picture Books - Christmas

Picture Books - Nonfiction

Graphic & Illustrated Novels

Chapter Books

Nonfiction Chapter Books

Resources for Adults
